WARREN COUNTY

An average of 46 families a day are stopping at the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau information booth—most of them residents of other parts of the state but many from other states.

PENNSYLVANIA

The nation's two biggest steel producers announce price increases—one of them the first general increase since the dramatic industry battle with President Kennedy in 1962.

Apparently satisfied with the results of their first two foreign trade missions, state and private business executives plan a third next year to South America.

THE NATION

President Johnson says if a Communist North Vietnam offensive is launched in the South it is possible the U.S. will "have to consider additional military measures."

The Senate passes a $1.94 billion foreign aid bill after beating back attempts to restore part of the $1 billion slashed from President Johnson's original request.

Richard M. Nixon appeals for a "crusade against crime" and two other big GOP guns, Ronald Reagan and John V. Lindsay, join in bombardment of administration's anticrime record.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan acts like the candidate he says he isn't, and confides he is more conscious of a move to win him the Republican presidential nomination.

President Johnson says the steel price increase announced by Bethlehem Steel Co. will have "dire economic consequences for our nation" and urges other producers not to follow it.

The cost of living rises in June by one-half of one per cent, as mortgage interest and service charges lead the way.

THE WORLD

OPERATIONS WILL DOUBLE

Construction that will almost double plant operations of Thomas Coupling Division of Rex Chainbelt, Inc. here, started Wednesday with a traditional ground-breaking ceremony. On hand to toss the turf were, from left, F. W. Rieder, Thomas plant manager; Mayor D. E. Conaway, R. V. Polsson, Rex vice president-components group and W. E. Teague, Thomas Coupling division manager. Thomas Coupling Division recently assumed production of Rex Roller Chain Coupling, formerly produced at its Springfield, Mass. plant and started production of a polyurethane coupling, the Tru-Flex. This added production and expected wide acceptance of Tru-Flex, together with the overall increase in sales, makes the addition necessary. Construction is expected to be completed sometime in December. Two examples of Thomas Couplings are shown—the smallest held by Teague, is used in computer operation. ## Nixon Calls for Militant 'Crusade Against Crime'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon called for a "militant crusade against crime" Wednesday and two other big GOP guns, Ronald Reagan and John V. Lindsay, joined in a bombardment of the administration's anticrime record. The former vice president sent a special message to the Republican Platform Committee hearings declaring that the party has a duty to "re-establish domestic peace—to restore freedom from fear to the American people."

Neither the poor nor the rich are above the law, Nixon added, saying: "Poverty, despair, anger, past wrongs can no longer be allowed to excuse or justify violence or crime or lawlessness."

The day's hearings underscored some predictions that crime in the nation's streets may be made the GOP's biggest campaign issue, outranking Vietnam and poverty.

New York's Mayor Lindsay hit at crime in his personal platform hearing appearance. Gov. Reagan of California hit it even harder—and got the biggest applause to date of the pre-convention hearings.

Nixon's message was forceful. "Only 50 years ago, Americans dreamed of making the world safe for democracy," he said. "Today, our present leadership cannot even make America safe for Americans."

The Nixon message went on: "One paramount need is for the men of government at the national level to exert their moral authority to the limit, to marshal the armies of public opinion behind what can be nothing less than a militant crusade against crime..."

"We must cease... the granting of special immunities and moral sanctions to those who deliberately violate the public laws—even when those violations are done in the name of peace or civil rights or anti-poverty or academic reform."

"We must return to a single standard of justice for all Americans, and justice must be made blind again to race and color and creed and position along an economic or social line."

Gov. Reagan Begins Acting Like Candidate

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—California's Ronald Reagan performed in Miami beach Wednesday, acting like the presidential candidate he said he is not—and confiding that Republican supporters are "springing up around the country."

While political proxies argued the causes of Republican front-runner Richard M. Nixon and campaigning challenger Nelson A. Rockefeller, Reagan plowed through crowds in the lobby of the Fontainebleau Hotel, talked with Florida delegates to the GOP national convention, and insisted he would not solicit the presidential nomination.

"This movement has come from other people," he said. "I myself would not seek the nomination from my party as a newly elected governor of California."

At a news conference, Reagan recited his political litany: he is a favorite son candidate from California, he is not actively pursuing the nomination, but if the delegates want to consider him, that is their decision, and Reagan said no man could refuse to serve if summoned.

"I think he would have to accept," the governor said. "That's a responsibility of citizenship."

Reagan political lieutenants seemed to be taking this responsibility quite seriously. One of them estimated that the Californian now has 180 to 200 delegates on his side, and said Reagan will decline no invitation to address delegate caucuses in advance of the convention. That is standard procedure for a man hunting support.

Coyne certainly was no mark of the Nixon and Rockefeller camps.

Herbert C. Klein, Nixon's top spokesman, announced that his candidate is actively soliciting the opinions of party leaders as to who would make his best vice presidential running mate.

Klein said Nixon is looking for an able campaigner who would be qualified to succeed to the White House if necessary.

The Nixon organization claims more than the 667 delegate votes needed for nomination.

Reagan disputed that account, and said he does not think a winner will be named on the first convention ballot.

Sparrows Devouring Home Brick by Brick

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Hungry sparrows are devouring Dick Koon's home brick by brick.

"It all started around the beginning of the summer," said Koon. "These birds began eating the bricks along a 20-foot wall which runs along my driveway."

"They're not eating the mortar, they're eating the bricks. They have already eaten several holes in the wall and have started on the front of the house," he laments.

Charles F. Crabtree, past president of the Fort Worth Audubon Society and vice president of the Texas Ornithological Society, was informed of the birds' unusual diet.

"It wasn't that I doubted anyone's word," said Crabtree, "but I had to see it for myself."

With binoculars in hand, he positioned himself at the Koon home to observe the feathered gourmands.

"It seems incredible," he said. "I thought they were just pecking at the brick but they were actually consuming it."

Crabtree estimates 50 bricks in the side of the Koon's garage and house have come under attack.

LBJ Says Red Attack May Bring Additional Military Measures

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said Wednesday that if a Communist North Vietnam offensive is launched in the South it is possible the United States will "have to consider additional military measures."

He made the statement at an impromptu news conference at which he expressed disappointment that North Vietnam has not reduced its military actions.

Instead, he said, it has sent an estimated record number of 30,000 infiltrators into South Vietnam in July.

On the North Vietnamese infiltration, Johnson cited the latest figures of trucks and water-borne movement south of the 20th parallel and said:

"We have every reason to believe the enemy is preparing a massive attack on our forces and on the forces of our allies."

He said he could not ignore the fact that the infiltration routes to the south are crowded with men and supplies.

"I cannot step aside and leave our men in the lurch, I am prepared to halt the bombing of North Vietnam when we feel it will not lead to further loss of American lives and heavy allied casualties," he said.

The President's statements on Vietnam and steel came at a news conference in the Cabinet Room of the White House. Johnson spoke quietly and seriously as he sat at the Cabinet table facing newsmen.

He said also he has decided not to spend $91 million which Congress had added to the budget for aid to schools in areas affected by large numbers of government employees.

Only a few hours earlier, the Senate had voted to freeze some $122 million in carryover foreign aid funds unless the $91 million is freed for spending on school aid.

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong mortarmen shelled several South Vietnamese installations in the countryside around Saigon early Thursday after allied forces smashed a big enemy base 92 miles southwest of the capital in the Mekong Delta.

Government military spokesmen said damage and casualties in the predawn mortar attacks were light.

U.S. Navy gunboats, helicopter gunships and South Vietnamese marines teamed up Wednesday for what a military spokesman called "an unprecedented allied penetration" in the delta to knock out the enemy stronghold.

The battle began Tuesday night and ended Wednesday morning. The allies counted 93 Viet Cong bodies and reported that two South Vietnamese Marines were wounded.

Government troops searched the area after the clash and found 423 mortars, 62 weapons and more than 12,000 rounds of small-arms ammunition.

The Vietnamese soldiers cornered the Viet Cong in bunkers where they were raked by helicopter gunships and blasted by the 60-foot Navy gunboats and American craft inflicted most of the casualties.

$1.94 Billion Foreign Aid Bill Approved by Senate, 46 to 28

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—The Senate passed a $1.94 billion foreign aid authorization bill after beating back attempts to restore part of the $1 billion slashed from President Johnson's original request. The vote was 46 to 28.

The battered measure now goes to conference negotiations with representatives of the House for an adjustment of differences. The least of these is a $48 million Senate cut under the House version. The Senate also added a number of policy restrictions and administrative directives which must be comprised in conference when Congress returns in September.

Just before the vote on final passage, the Senate voted 62-13 to reject a proposal by Sen. Joseph S. Clark Jr., D-Pa., to restore $317.5 million to the measure and bring the level of economic aid to the $1.8 billion recommended for such programs by the House foreign affairs committee.

An amendment by Sen. Peter S. Dominick, R-Col., would have directed the President to submit to Congress a program to embargo all or part of U.S. trade with Communist-dominated countries until the crew of the Pueblo was released by North Korea. That trade last year amounted to about $374 million.

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., offered a substitute limiting the embargo to North Korea. Both proposals ultimately were withdrawn.

One of the few significant changes made in the bill as reported by the foreign relations committee came on an amendment by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. It called on the President to "make a thorough and comprehensive reappraisal" of foreign aid programs and to report his interim findings to Congress by next July 1 and his final conclusions before March 31, 1970.

The amendment adopted by voice vote also provided for a

16-member study committee to assist the President in his reappraisal and report. It directed the committee to include in its recommendations to the President specific proposals for a government corporation or a federally chartered private corporation designed "to mobilize and facilitate the use of U.S. private capital and skills in less developed friendly countries and areas."

In his statement, prepared in advance, Johnson said "the announced Bethlehem price increase far exceeds any reasonable calculation of the cost of the wage settlement" reached between the industry and the steelworkers union last night.

"The terms of the settlement are high," the President said, and he admitted it "will result in some increase in steel costs." This implied that lesser or selective steel price increases might go unopposed.

No actual price increases were announced Wednesday by any producer other than the two giants of the industry. But Armco Steel Corp. said it expected to announce increases "in base prices of all products" by Aug. 2, following an examination of each category of product.

Inland Steel Co. said "our decision will be based entirely on costs... and not any noise from Washington." It was Inland that broke the 1962 price increase by refusing to go along.

Cost of Living Continues To Spiral Up . . . Up . . . Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Home buyers and home owners bore the brunt of a sharp increase in June in the cost of living.

The Labor Department reported Wednesday that practically everything for the consumer went up, particularly apparel, gasoline and cigarettes.

The cost of living, called the consumer price index, rose 0.5 per cent in June over the previous month, reaching a level of 120.9 compared to the base of 100 in 1957-59. It cost 4.2 per cent more to live in June of this year than in June of last year.

The monthly advance was the largest since February 1966.

For the American buying a new home, Labor Department statisticians said mortgage interest charges rose nearly 4 per cent in June.

For the American who already has his home, the cost rose with advancing property taxes, home insurance rates and charges for home decoration and repair.

Rents went up 0.3 per cent "in continuation of an accelerated upward movement," the department said.

A bright spot was the cost of eating at home. Actually, food and beverage prices went up but not as much as expected, and, seasonally adjusted, they fell 0.3 per cent at retail and 1.5 per cent at wholesale.

Prices dropped for many fresh vegetables and most fresh fruits. The cost of meat went up, but poultry prices went up less than usual.

The cost of eating out increased for the 54th consecutive month.

Clothing prices went up for the 10th consecutive month. Apparel prices rose 0.5 per cent, seasonally adjusted, led by women's clothing and footwear.

Wholesale prices increased 0.3 per cent, to a level of 108.7, which was 2.3 per cent above a year ago. Industrial commodity prices returned to their April level following a small decline in May.

Preliminary data for July showed a 0.4 per cent increase in wholesale prices.

Despite the rises in the cost of living, the department said real earnings, or what a worker has to spend, advanced to record levels.

Gross earnings for the average worker rose to $108.20 a week in June. Spendable earnings, which are gross pay less federal income and Social Security taxes, were $95.55 a week for the worker with three dependents, up $1.15 a week from May.

Police Still Looking For Thieves

JAMESTOWN, N.Y.—James-town police are still looking for the thieves who ransacked a half dozen offices in the Lincoln Medical Building on Porter ave. Detectives said the burglaries were discovered when the thieves made off with about $150 in cash and postage stamps, according to the city police dept.

The Lincoln Medical Building houses the offices for several doctors and dentists. The thieves apparently entered the building by smashing a window in the office of Dr. H. Gregory Thorsell, where they removed $63 in cash and $42 worth of postage stamps. Police said another $53 was stolen from the adjacent offices of Doctors Kibler, Schwab and Bauer, Dr. William B. Laury reported $3 missing.

The offices of Dr. C. Norman Johnson Jr. and Doctors William Dickson and William Ellis were also entered, but nothing was reported missing.

Jet Reported Flying Faster Than Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Transportation Safety Board said Wednesday a jet airliner that collided with a light plane near Dayton, Ohio, March 9, 1967, was flying 83 miles an hour faster than the airplane speed limit for the area.

The Board attributed the accident, in which all 26 persons in the two planes were killed, to the jet's excessive speed and to failure of its crew to see and avoid the small plane.

The Trans World Airlines DC9 jet involved in the collision was approaching for a landing, with 21 passengers and a crew of four on a flight scheduled from New York City to Chicago by way of Harrisburg, Pa., Pittsburgh, and Dayton.

The TWA plane was operating on an instrument flight rules flight plan, descending from 20,000 feet to 3,000 feet, and 18 seconds before the collision was advised that there was southbound slow-moving traffic one mile away "at 12:30," the clock-wise term for direction.

The traffic referred to was a Tann Co. Beechcraft Baron at an altitude of 4,500 feet, on a business flight planned from Detroit to Springfield, Ohio.

There was no information to indicate that the DC9 crew ever saw the light plane.

The flight recorder recovered from the DC9 showed the plane was traveling at just over 371 miles an hour at the time of the collision.

"The excess speed contributed to the accident in that it reduced the available time for the crew of either aircraft to see and avoid the other or for the controller to take appropriate action," the board said.

"The DC9 was the overtaking, converging aircraft and thus in the better position to afford the pilots an opportunity to observe and avoid the Beechcraft."

"Therefore, primary responsibility for avoiding traffic within its flight path rested with the DC9 crew."

LBJ Signs Bill Controlling Juvenile Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed Wednesday a bill aimed at controlling juvenile crime through a program of prevention and rehabilitation. The measure authorizes $150 million during the next three years for a combination of approaches to deal with youthful crime and potential delinquents.

In signing at a White House ceremony, the President said criminals "are made not born," — they are the products of slums, bad schools, idleness and despair. While legislation will help, he said until "We get around to curing these causes of crime — we cannot stop crime or juvenile delinquency."

The new law provides grants for states to help develop preventive and rehabilitative services for delinquents, construct detention and diagnostic facilities and train personnel in the field of juvenile delinquency.

The states are required to put up 50 per cent of the costs of construction projects and 60 per cent of the cost of rehabilitation projects.

Automobiles, like people, require attention to stay operative during summer heat, advises the Institute for Safer Living. Water levels in radiator and battery should be checked frequently, as well as oil levels in crankcase and transmission. Brake and power steering fluids should be kept at safe levels.

Court Asked To Suppress Tape Recordings

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Nine plumbing firms accused of fixing prices on $1 billion worth of cast iron fixtures Wednesday asked U.S. District Court to suppress 25 tape recordings as evidence against them.

The firms contend introduction of the tapes, which the Justice Department's antitrust division holds, would violate the new Crime Control Act passed in June.

Attorneys for the firms argued that although the tapes were made in the early 1960's, the Crime Control Bill's sections on eavesdropping and wiretapping forbids use of the recordings.

In a companion civil suit argued in Philadelphia Tuesday, U.S. District Court Judge John W. Lord ordered the tape recordings, which allegedly contain price-fixing information, turned over to the plaintiffs, the Philadelphia Housing Authority and Lindy Brothers Builders Inc.

Lord stated in an opinion, "The tapes allegedly contain much relevant information relating to the price fixing conspiracy which is the subject of the present suit."

In Pittsburgh, U.S. Attorney John C. Fricano charged that the companies were using "the continuous litigation tactic — delay, linger and wait."

The firms face the threat of numerous civil suits throughout the country similar to those being tried in Philadelphia.

Charged with conspiracy in criminal and civil courts are Universal-Rundle Corp. of New Castle; Wallace Murray Corp., Rheem Manufacturing Co. American Standard Inc., and Crane Co., all of New York; Kohler Co. of Kohler, Wisc.; Borg-Warner Corp. of Chicago; Briggs Manufacturing Co., of Warren, Mich.; and a trade association, the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association.

INSPECTS DAMAGE

Bernarr Whiteley, assistant fire chief, Wrightsville Volunteer Fire Dept., inspects the damage at a home located on Route 958 between Wrightsville and Lottsville, owned by Robert Darrow. Fire broke out at the Darrow residence about 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Firemen believe the blaze was caused by a faulty electric light in a closet on the second floor of the frame structure. Wrightsville firemen responded to the alarm with 15 men and two trucks and were joined at the scene by 14 men and two trucks from the Sugar Grove Volunteer Fire Dept. Darrow and his wife, the sole occupants of the house were not in the home when the fire broke out. The blaze was discovered by a passing motorist who notified the Darrow's and summoned the fire department. Assistant Chief Whiteley estimated the damage would exceed $1,000. (Photo by Knight)

The Youngsville Volunteer Fire Department is proud to announce the attainment of the $125,000 goal to provide a new facility to house the Youngsville Fire Department, Ambulance Service, and Community Center.

Our thanks is extended to the residents, corporations, and friends of the Brokenstraw Valley area who have, by their magnificent contributions, again demonstrated their willingness to whole heartedly support worthwhile community projects.

We may all take just pride in our membership in the Brokenstraw Valley community where such projects, for the continued improvement of an enviable way of life, are possible.

The Fire Department and Auxiliary also join me in extending our appreciation to all of the area chairmen and campaign workers for their dedicated efforts in conducting this program.

A ground breaking will take place Wednesday, August 7, at 7:00 P.M., at the building site.

A Demonstrated Truth

Peoples and governments never have learned anything from history, or acted on principles deduced from it."

So said Georg Wilhelm Friedrich Hegel in 1832.

As to what circumstances may have led Herr Hegel to make such an astute observation is, of course, unknown. But he may have been moved to support an observation made by Judge Alexander Fraser Tytler, a Scottish historian, in the previous century.

After making a detailed study of the fate of the Roman Republic, the knowledgeable judge proclaimed, "A democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can only exist until the voters discover they can vote themselves largess out of the public treasury."

This, he said, was a demonstrated truth.

The Repubs, Short and Sweet

WASHINGTON--A brief guide to the Republican party for people who will be watching television next week and do not want to appear gauche by having to ask, "What in heaven's name is wrong with my television set?"

1. Chemical structure -- The Republican party is a large mass of politicalicians held together by the three-button suit. Unlike the Democratic party, which is a gas, the Republican party is a solid, and therefore sinks almost immediately when immersed in elections.

2. History -- The Republican party was born in 1854 and died in 1932 at the grand old age of 78, which is why it is still referred to as the Grand Old Party, or G.O.P. With the election in 1860 of the first Republican president, Raymond Massey, the party entered an era of greatness which produced an extraordinary succession of American presidents whom nobody has ever heard of, or if he has, wishes he hadn't. Among them were Rutherford B. Hayes, James Garfield, Chester A. Arthur, Benjamin Harrison, Warren Gamaliel Harding, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover.

3. Purpose -- When the president goes each January to Capitol Hill to read his state of the Union message to a joint session of Congress, the occasion is nationally televised by the networks. It is invariably an exceedingly dull speech, and to keep the TV audience entertained the cameras must frequently pan across the House chamber to show congressional reaction. To avoid the monotony of showing a continually applauding Congress, the networks insist on having some people in the audience who will look unhappy and sit on their hands. The Republicans are retained for this purpose.

4. Hobbies -- The Republican party's favorite hobby is suicide.

5. Who is Thomas E. Dewey? -- Thomas E. Dewey was unanimously elected President of the United States in October, 1948, by the American press and polls, succeeding Harry S. Truman. He served until 7 o'clock on the morning after election day.

6. Philosophy -- The Republican party being the instrument of the well-educated American middle class, it is not surprising that its thinkers have produced over the years enough statements of principle to fill a volume the size of "The Quotations of Chairman Mao." Among these are, "Keep Cool with Coolidge," "A Chicken in Every Pot," "Return to Normalcy," and "I Like Ike."

7. Heroes -- Like the Democrats, and even the Communists, the Republican party has many heroes. Their names, however, are never mentioned. Since no two Republicans agree on who is a hero and who is a villain, the Republican party has discovered over the years that it can best maintain peace by keeping quiet about heroes.

8. Natural habitat -- The Republican party is indigenous to the central United States, the east side of Manhattan and upper New England. Attempts to transplant it to other regions have resulted in peculiar mutations, such as the curious red-neck variant noted in the southern regions and the highly irritable "right-wing" Republican found in southern California -- so called because his enormously disproportionate right wing creates the illusion that he lacks not only a left wing and a torso, but also a head. In recent years, the Republican party has been sighted with increasing rarity in Washington, D.C., where it appears to feel ill at ease and left out.

An American in Moscow

MOSCOW -- The Soviets have just signed a treaty permitting Pan American Airways to fly to Moscow and Aeroflot, the U.S.S.R. airline, to fly to the United States. This should open up the gates to tourism for both countries, and no country is better prepared to handle tourists than the Soviet Union.

To add a new thrill to my trip to Moscow I decided to take an Aeroflot plane. I really didn't decide to take Aeroflot; the Russians decided that for me, I was booked on an Air France plane from Paris to Moscow at 9 in the morning. But when I went to get my visa the day before, the Soviet consulate people said the visa wouldn't be ready until 10 o'clock, on the day I was leaving.

"But," I protested, "I'm scheduled to leave on Air France at 9."

"You're lucky," the man said, "Aeroflot leaves at noon."

"That's a helluva way to get business for your airline," I complained.

"That's cheaper than advertising," the consulate man shrugged.

I am happy to report that Soviet planes are well constructed and perfectly safe. If there is any flaw in the design of their planes, it is that the aisles aren't wide enough for the stewardesses.

As a safety factor, Aeroflot selects their stewardesses for their strength instead of their looks. That's why you never hear of an Aeroflot plane being hijacked to Havana.

When my wife and I arrived at the airport in Moscow, the tourist guide who was slated to meet us wasn't there, and there was some confusion about it.

The commissar in charge went through several sheets of paper and finally he said to us coldly, "You were scheduled to come on the Air France flight."

I didn't want to get the consulate employe in Paris in trouble, so I said, "I didn't like the movie they were showing on Air France, and since I knew Aeroflot would be five hours late, it would give me a chance to see the Russian version of 'War and Peace.'"

This seemed to satisfy him, and he gave me a car and a chauffeur to the Hotel Rossiya which American newspapermen in Moscow refer to as "Comrade Hilton." The Hotel Rossiya has good beds and is the largest hotel in the world. One lobby overlooks the Kremlin, and the other lobby overlooks the winter palace in Leningrad. It is so big and the chances of getting lost are so great that no tourist is permitted to leave his hotel without a canteen of water.

Every problem concerning tourism is handled by Intourist, an all-encompassing state organization which provides cars, interpreters, meal tickets and free red tape for anyone visiting the Soviet Union.

If you stick to the schedule, Intourist will give you no trouble. But if for some reason you want to change it, you are marked as a petty bourgeois adventurer, and the Intourist people will show you no mercy.

I made the mistake while in Moscow of trying to change my hotel room. The request was granted only after I signed a confession saying that I was working for the CIA and had come to Moscow to photograph the plans of the Hotel Rossiya for a new Holiday Inn that was being built in Chicago.

Despite the language barrier and the problems of coping with Soviet bureaucracy, you can have a wonderful time visiting the Soviet Union.

At the airport just before we were ready to leave I said to my wife, "You forgot to throw a coin in the fountain at Red Square. Now you may never come back."

She cried all the way to Monte Carlo.

Where Is Biafra?

I wonder how many readers will complete the reading of this column? Because it is about . . . Biafra. John Gunther once said that Americans will do absolutely anything for Latin America -- except read about it. So it is with many other places, except in moments of flash-flood interest. Along comes Biafra, and the general reaction is, Oh no, not another one of those African things?

Those African things having come frequently into the news over the ten-year period of decolonization, it began with the declaration of Ghana's independence, towards which our diplomats devoted much unctuous optimism. When the gentleman who was designated to lead Ghana to a New Dawn free of imperialism took to beating and imprisoning just any old somebody and his cabinet ministers' wives began ordering solid-gold bathtubs, we sort of lost interest in Ghana.

For a while, the Mau Mau got our attention, and certainly they earned it. But Robert Ruark drew the full benefit of that uprising, and perhaps a little besides; and then old Burning Spear took over and once again, we were back to simply hating South Africa, and standing by to hate Rhodesia. Fortunately, there was that lodestar of stability on which all of us could count, the great Nigerian Federation, presided over by Sir Abubakar Tafawa Awolowo.

Not, you understand, that Nigeria was a sleepy-time republic of altogether acquiescent plainmen freed from the shackles of colonialism. It was a good robust democracy. Time Magazine's cover story on the prime minister back in the halcyon days recorded the reception given in parliament to the speakers on a typical day. "Each . . . was greeted with cries of 'Heah heah' from his friends, and derisive shouts of 'Sit down, you wretched fool!' from his foes; from the rostrum came the perennial plea for 'O'dah! o'dah.'"

And of course a very few years later Sir Abubakar Awolowo was found dead, his face mutilated, and the reign of terror began, but by this time we had shut out our minds on African problems so long as they did not, as in Rhodesia and South Africa, involve white folks. And that is why so little attention has been given to the horrors of the Biafran secessionist war.

We are right to stay out of that political controversy. Few Americans have any idea of which is the right side and which the wrong side, and those who do make arbitrary commitments. But the point is that the suffering of the Ibo people is on a scale unparalleled since the Communist starvations of the kulaks in the mid-thirties, and somehow nothing is being done about it. The grisly estimate is that unless we act immediately -- within a week or two -- one million Biafrans, mostly children, will die. And the rate will continue, at one-million per month, for six months.

The American Committee to Keep Biafra Alive has taken full page ads, asking individual American citizens to write to Dean Rusk requesting that the U. S. government take steps to bring food to Biafra, and to persuade the Nigerian authorities to permit the passage of food through the blockade it is currently maintaining. Mr. Rusk should grant no greater priority to any other problem than this one.

But where, pray, is the United Nations? When last heard from, they were in uproar over the execution in Rhodesia by the white government of one convicted murderer duly convicted by an integrated jury: how we did wall and gnash our teeth over that one. Since then, Colonel Benjamin Adekunle, Commander of Nigeria's Army of Invasion, has described relief efforts to Biafra as "misguided humanitarian rubbish." Such food, the colonel argues, will go to soldiers who will prolong the war. "If children must die first, then it is too bad. Just too bad."

Where is the Herbert Hoover of the present situation? One wishes that some of those dogged signature-collectors who want to reduce the suffering in Vietnam, or impose suffering in California on Ronald Reagan, or effect the impeachment of Earl Warren, would use their precious time to organize relief missions for Biafra. "How can I get people interested in my country?" a Nigerian attending a midwestern university once told me, "when they don't even know where it is?" It's hard. But the American people are a very generous people. The problem is to awaken them. Herewith my meagre contribution.

Ethics Continue Lax

WASHINGTON--The American public can thank Nick Kotz and the Des Moines Register for another illustration of unethical conduct by Congress in publishing a detailed report on the manner in which the trucking lobby subsidized certain key Congressmen. In return, highly favorable trucking legislation has just been passed or recommended by Congress.

Earlier this year, Jack Anderson -- now in Miami getting ready for the GOP convention -- and I wrote a book, "The Case Against Congress," which probed into some of the unethical conduct of Congressmen. When the book's galley proofs were circulated in advance to members of the Senate Ethics Committee the effect was stimulating.

Suddenly, after weeks of procrastination, the Ethics Committee threw off its lethargy and recommended a code of ethical standards. This was promptly passed. The House of Representatives also acted.

Despite this, ethics in both Houses of Congress continue about the same, as illustrated by the scandalous manner in which Congress has recently bowed to the trucking lobby, the highway lobby, the meat lobby and the gas pipeline lobby.

Nick Kotz and the Des Moines Register have exposed the trucking lobby in regard to a bill limiting the amount of commercial freight hauled by farm cooperatives, now signed into law; also in regard to a bill doubling the size of triple trailer trucks on interstate highways from 73,280 pounds to 138,000 pounds. They have revealed that a total of $40,000 was contributed to the campaign kettles of key Congressmen to oil the legislative wheels for these two bills.

Equally important, possibly more so, is the federal highway bill which has been in a two-week hassle between the House and Senate committees, with Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., refusing to sign the report because it was stacked in favor of the trucking, cement and freeway lobbies.

As written in the House, the bill limited Lady Bird's beautification program, undermined the protection of parks, historical sites, game refuges, etc., and cracked down completely on the right of the courts and local planning commissions to hold up freeways which they didn't want.

The House bill also voted 3,000 extra miles of interstate highways at a cost of several billion (with the federal government paying 92 per cent) at a time when the House has demanded a cut-back of $6 billion, chiefly from education, anti-poverty, housing and other economic and social welfare programs.

Significantly, the House of Representatives bowed to the highway lobby much more than did the Senate. And it was in the House that the truckers dumped most of their money.

Rep. George Fallon of Baltimore, Democratic chairman of the Public Works Committee which handled the highway bill, got $1,000 from the truck operators nonpartisan committee. Rep.

Pearson

Sam Friedel, another Baltimore Democrat and a key member of the Interstate Commerce Committee, got $1,000 in 1966, $750 in April 1968 and $250 in May 1968. Rep. John Kluczynski, Chicago Democrat and chairman of the subcommittee which voted out the highway bill, got $30,000 from the same truckers' committee.

The following members of the important Public Works Committee got $1,000 each from the truckers committee: John Blatnik, D-Minn., and William Harsha, R-Ohio. The following got $500 each: Robert E. Jones, Ala.; James Wright, Texas; Kenneth Gray, Ill.; Frank Clark, Pa.; Harold Johnson, Calif.; W. J. B. Dorn, S.C.; Arnold Olsen, Mont.; Ray Roberts, Texas; James Kee, W. Va.; all Democrats; with Republicans James Grover, N.Y.; Roger Zion, Ind.; Charlotte Reid, Ill.

These are the contributions to members of the House Public Works Committee only and do not include money given to key members of other committees or to Senators. Significantly, Rep. Richard McCarthy, the Buffalo Democrat who put up the chief battle inside the Public Works Committee against the trucking lobby, was given a wide berth by the truckers. They considered him hopeless.

There were other interesting gimmicks which influenced the highway bills besides money, however, which Nick Kotz did not mention.

Rep. William Harsha, the Ohio Republican, not only got $1,000 from the truckers, as revealed by Kotz, but his law firm represents Greyhound Bus, as revealed in the book "The Case Against Congress." Greyhound, of course, is one of the biggest highway users in the USA.

Last month, when this column reported on his favors for the highway lobby, Rep. Kluczynski issued a pious statement that he had never heard of Harold Wirth of Firestone Rubber, the leading lobbyist for highways; that he did not associate with lobbyists and never accepted contributions from them.

Now it develops that Kluczynski accepted $3,000 from the truckers; also addressed the American Road Builders convention Feb. 23, 1965, in Washington, and March 12, 1967, in Miami, for which he was paid expenses and a fee. Finally Harold Wirth, whom "he never heard of," was a witness before Kluczynski's committee on April 4, 1968.

Kluczynski has been one of the most consistent opponents of Lady Bird's beautification program, a champion of billboards, and an indefatigable exponent of concrete thruways regardless of where local planning commissions want them located.

Actually, the freeway bill just passed is an unnecessary piece of legislation. It was rushed through now because the lobbyists wanted to cash in on their lobbying investments and weren't sure whether they will have the same docile committee after November. The bill weakens both the present highway law and the Department of Transportation. President Johnson is being urged to take a stand against the lobbyists and for Congressional ethics by vetoing the bill.

Goodbye, Bacon & Eggs

The age of the traditional breakfast of bacon and eggs plus all the trimmings -- freshly squeezed juice and brewed coffee, toast, jam, whatever -- is drawing to an end.

Coming in its place is the instant package breakfast: say, a glass of milk with an additive to produce a balanced 300 calories for the kids or another juice combination with a lower calorie count but still tasty, balanced, nutritious.

"The old breakfast as you know it will change completely in the next decade," confidently predicts Edward A. Otsuka, senior vice president of National Biscuit Co., one of the nation's largest food processors and distributors. "No longer will the housewife have to get up and go through all the time-consuming preparations to feed her family. She'll give them a packaged breakfast with just as much or more nourishment in convenient form."

We are on the threshold of a revolution in our eating at home and eating out habits, Otsuka believes. What you and I consider "convenience foods" now will be dwarfed by what will be prepared for consumption both at home and in restaurants. Industry can, insists Otsuka, prepare these meals on a wholesale basis better than the housewife can at home. "Industry can do it more economically and consistently, can put more nutrition and balance in the meal than any housewife."

The background for Otsuka's

prediction is obvious. The working wife-mother is increasingly asking for all the convenience industry can invent. The harder and more expensive it is to obtain household assistance, the greater becomes the wife-mother's demand for convenience foods. Families are using their growing leisure and vacation time to travel together by car and this also is swelling demand for prepared foods which can be served quickly and can be eaten within the car as well as at the roadside. The combination service station-restaurant is commonplace but its greatest era lies ahead.

Changes in our eating habits that Otsuka foresees are:

++ Wide acceptance of the semi-moist food in new packaging and with new preservatives to prevent spoilage. You will take home a semi-moist meat package, pop it into the toaster to become a meat sandwich or pop it into the oven to become a meat pie.

++ Greater use of microwave heating and high-frequency ovens to speed the transformation of frozen foods into delicious ready-to-eat meals in a matter of seconds, indicative of what is ahead is frozen Danish pastry for vending machines which can be turned in seven seconds into "the nicest, plump, heated Danish pastry you can imagine."

++ Development of spun protein, tailor-made protein food which can be designed and developed to look and taste like meat loaf, ham, bacon, chicken, etc. "You'll actually 'make' a chicken through processing a strand of protein."

++ Vast improvement of freeze-dried foods, growing out of the needs of the military services and the space program for concentrated, nutritious, long-lasting foods. You'll just mix the freeze-dried food with a designated liquid and out will come a product you can't distinguish from the original. Freeze-dried foods will make shipping and storage much cheaper, "will be one of the biggest developments in the next decade."

++ Real "portion control!" so the housewife will get what she wants pre-cut, pre-sized and pre-balanced.

I wouldn't be so willing to swallow these predictions if I didn't see how and what today's youngsters like to eat. I'm rebelling against it all. I'm learning to bake from scratch.

Who's Not Tending The Shop?

HARRISBURG -- Governor Shafer is drawing a salary of $865.38 per week to serve as chief executive of the good Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but as a Republican bigwig he receives exactly nothing -- which in a sense doesn't make much sense.

Denison

For example, by the time the GOP National Convention (which gets under way Monday) ends on August 9, His Excellency will have spent more than seven weeks outside the state, considering the fact that the year then will be little more than seven months old, this means that the Governor will have been out of the state on approximately one day out of four.

Now most certainly it is expected that since he is the chief executive of one of the largest states in the union, the Governor should be a power in his party. He is expected to take time off for such things as party conventions. Few will argue with that.

But just how much time should he take off the job to campaign for a fellow governor who wants to be President of the United States?

The situation is even more ironical when it is remembered that the Governor got off a plane in Harrisburg last October, after a European tour, and promptly criticized members of the Legislature for attending the National Legislative Conference in Texas -- instead of staying home to tend the legislative shop.

(It might be pointed out that one of the periods for which the Governor absented himself from Harrisburg was from July 19-29 -- which included the last days of the current legislative session.)

Of course, he has dropped into the Capitol to sign bills, but otherwise he's been buzzing around the country in support of Governor Rockefeller. (Mr. Rockefeller himself seemed to be home oftener than Mr. Shafer.)

The exact amount of time the Governor is absent from the state is difficult to ascertain -- since his office does not issue releases about that. Research shows however that his absences started on January 5, when he went to the Virgin Islands for vacation, and will at least continue through the GOP Convention in Miami next week.

"The Governor is certainly entitled to a vacation," one Democratic legislator said. "And we would expect that he would attend his party convention. But the ordinary employe gets only 15 days vacation a year, so this should just about have exhausted his vacation period."

The record shows that in February Mr. Shafer gave political speeches on February 13 in Denver, February 14 in California, February 15 in Syracuse, and then went to the Governors' Conference in Washington, D.C. He was still in Washington on March 1, but spent March 8 and 10 in New York. No record was made of whether he was in Harrisburg in between the two New York dates, but he was in Atlanta on March 15.

At the same time Lieutenant Governor Broderick was in the Far East on a trade mission, Mr. Shafer absented himself from May 7-16 on a "fact finding" tour with other Republican governors. He was on hand for hearings in the Far West, in Omaha, Neb., in the eastern metropolitan areas of New York and Boston. As part of that trip, he also touched down at Pittsburgh for one of the hearings. That came after Little Rock, Ark., and was held the same day as a hearing in Baltimore.

From June 13 through 15, His Excellency was at the Republican Governors' Association meeting. Despite the multitude of historic places connected with the founding of our Union in Pennsylvania, Mr. Shafer was in Chautauque, N. Y., on the Fourth of July. (Vice President Humphrey was the chief speaker at Independence Hall in Philadelphia that same day.)

From July 16 through 19, Governor Shafer campaigned for Mr. Rockefeller in Michigan, Minnesota, Vermont, Maine, Indiana and Illinois. Then he made the Governors' Conference in Cincinnati for four more days, before returning to the Rockefeller campaign trail.

This past Tuesday he departed the confines of the Keystone State for the shores of Miami Beach and the Republican National Convention scheduled for August 5-9, bringing the total number of days His Excellency has been outside the state this year, to 54.

(Maybe Pennsylvania doesn't really need a $865.38-a-week chief executive.)

Little Lost Girl In Morgue Goes Homes

NEW YORK (AP) — The little lost girl in the morgue finally went back to her small town in Ohio Wednesday.

The body of the 5-foot-2, 98-pound youngster was found July 15 at the bottom of an airshaft in a Mott Street tenement. She had been raped and hurled alive from a fifth-floor window police said.

Since then, the girl had lain unidentified and unclaimed in the morgue.

Wednesday, however, Charles B. Neil, a Viceroy, Ohio, crane operator, identified the body as that of his 13-year-old daughter, Deborah.

Held on homicide and rape charges in Deborah's death are Ronald Alfio, 28, a commercial artist, and David Thomas Jr., 30, a porter. They claimed they never knew the name of the girl they are accused of killing.

Deborah, with reddish-brown hair and wearing hippie beads, hitchhiked to New York with a boy friend, whom police did not identify.

Investigating officers said Alfio accosted the girl on a lower East Side street and offered to sell her marijuana.

The boyfriend was decoyed on a fictitious errand, detectives said, and Thomas and Alfio took the girl to the latter's dingy tenement flat.

Neil, the father, and two of the girl's uncles pooled their money to charter a plane and flew here to identify the body. Deborah went home later on the same plane.

Two Biggest Steelmakers Announce Price Hikes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The nation's two biggest steelmakers — U. S. Steel Corp. and Bethlehem Steel Corp. — announced price hikes Wednesday and President Johnson denounced Bethlehem's across the board hike as "unreasonable."

The President added that Bethlehem's action, the first general price boost since President Kennedy's dramatic price battle with the steel industry in 1962, "just should not be permitted to stand."

He did not extend his criticism to U. S. Steel at an impromptu news conference in Washington. The President said under questioning he was interested in the across the board aspect which he said would affect the whole range of prices made of steel.

Johnson said the boosts could lead to a price increase of $500 million to the American consumer and voiced hope "other steel companies will not join this parade."

"American consumers are now threatened by a price increase of $6 million a year directly out of their pockets and pocketbooks," the President said, "and at the very time they are paying increased taxes as their contribution to the urgent task of restoring price stability."

In reaction to the President's statement, a Bethlehem spokesman said: "Our announcement this morning speaks for itself. In our opinion, our price increase is absolutely necessary and we do not intend to withdraw it."

Other companies hinted they were ready to follow, saying more revenue was needed to compensate for the new billion-dollar-plus contract won by the United Steelworkers Union Tuesday night.

"Our decision will be based entirely on costs . . . and not any noise from Washington," said Inland Steel, which in 1962 stood against the general price increase and started the roll-back.

Since then, the industry has raised prices piecemeal, hoping to avoid another confrontation with the many weapons of the federal government. That's why Bethlehem Steel's announcement of an increase of almost 5 per cent on base prices, effective Aug. 8, spread surprise across the industry.

"The price increases are expected to add only enough to revenues to offset cost increases just incurred or expected in the next several months," said Bethlehem, the nation's second largest producer.

"Selective price increases have not been effective in offsetting smaller increases than those now facing Bethlehem. A general price increase is the only method available to alleviate the financial problem which would otherwise occur in the immediate future."

U. S. Steel Corp., the biggest producer by far and usually the pacesetter for industry prices, posted a new list of prices for its tin mill products that adds up to an over-all increase.

How much the company wouldn't say. But of the six most popular items, four went up as much as 9.7 per cent, one went down 1.9 per cent, and one remained the same.

Tin products accounted for about 7 per cent of last year's industrywide shipments, and possibly as much as 10 to 12 per cent of revenue—a big item. The increases are effective Oct. 1.

The union's new contract is an estimated 6.5 per cent increase over each year of a three-year contract, an agreement that falls within the broad pattern of most major labor settlements this year.

Most steel companies were reluctant to talk publicly about what they were going to do on steel prices, now that Bethlehem and U. S. Steel had started the parade.

Shafer Signs Bills to Curb Hard-Core Unemployment

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer's Office announced Wednesday the signing of two major administration bills designed to curb hard-core unemployment in the impoverished areas of the state.

One measure increases to $175,000 each the amount of tax credits which may be granted to a private company involved in job-producing projects in the ghettos.

An amendment to the state's 1967 Neighborhood Assistance Act, the measure permits a total tax credit by the state this year of $1.75 million.

The credit is to jump by $1.75 million each year to a maximum of $8.75 million.

The second measure appropriates $6 million to reimburse industry for offering on-the-job training to hard-core unemployed.

The program is to be administered by the Department of Community Affairs.

Low cost group life insurance becomes available to state employees under new legislation signed earlier by Gov. Shafer.

Another bill which the governor signed Monday in Miami provides strengthening changes to the state employees' retirement system.

ment system. Shafer is in Miami to attend platform hearings which are a prelude to the National Republican Convention there next week.

Under the insurance bill, the Department of Property and Supplies, unless specifically requested not to do so, is authorized to purchase group life insurance for state employees at a cost to the employee of no more than 20 cents per $1,000 bi-weekly.

The pension measure integrates the state employees' retirement system with Social Security, establishes uniform employee contribution rates, and provides cost-of-living increases for 15,227 employees already on pension.

Boosters Campaign Off To a Fantastic Start

The Warren Sports Boosters' campaign for 1968 Football Program advertising is off and running following their appeal by mail the early part of this week. This is the second successive year that the campaign has been conducted by mail and on Monday, commercial and industrial firms in the Warren area received their appeal for Booster support during the coming year. Boosters treasurer Shurtliff reports that in the four days of the campaign, twenty-six firms have announced their intended support for the 1968 Football Program project. The Warren Beverage Co. and the Warren Water Co. were the first to respond but were followed quickly by the following "early boosters."

The Warren Sports Boosters would like to thank the following firms who have given their support to the 1968 Football Program project: Warren Beverage Company, Warren Water Company, Porter Insurance Agency, R. W. Norris Company, Warren Drug Store, North Penn Pipe & Supply Co., Ace Clean Car Wash, Betts Machine Company, Station WNAE, Barnhart & Davis, Faust Electric, Brader Insurance Agency, University of Pennsylvania Alumni, G. & R. Machine Co., City Ice and Beverage, Darling Jewelry Co., Lazy Susan, Autobody Repair Co., Watt Office Supply, John Powley Insurance, Printz Company, Walt and Gerry's Atlantic, Warren Glass & Parts Co., Loranger Plastics Corp., Warren Meadowbrook Dairy, and Custom Floors and Furniture.

Campaign chairman Murray McComas stated "this is certainly an encouraging beginning, the number of early boosters far surpasses the total last year at this same period of time, if this trend continues, we should have an even more successful campaign than a year ago."

Club president John Smith was equally pleased with the early response. "We are proud of what our organization has done in the past for our athletic program and the individual boys who participate," Smith went on "it is because of the continued support of the many local businesses and industries that we are able to contribute in some way toward the special projects that are necessary to a successful athletic program." Beside business and industry support, it is hoped that individuals in the community will respond with equal enthusiasm. Parents, fans and all persons interested in local high school sports are urged to join the Booster team by becoming Sponsors or Patrons in the program.

City League Led By Big Slugfest

By J. D. PRILLO
The hitters took over the City League in last night's double-header and pounded a total of fourteen extra base knocks of which seven were of the home run type as the Nichols Service Station Tarantulas took the front end 14-7 off SOI and Warren Beverage captured the second 14-6 against Betts Machine.

Jim Falvo of the losing Sons' team had the biggest night for the stickers in going 3-3. Two of his hits were round-trippers that knocked in five of the Palsanos' seven tallies. Tom Letrent and Bob Larson of the Tarantulas chimed in for a blast apiece to offset Falvo's bat.

Kenny Mignogna and John Berdine performed the same feat for the Beverage with solo belts. Jim Mock also had a three-run homer for the Betts Knights. All told in both games there were seventeen extra base hits.

Tom Kibbey of the Sons was tagged for sixteen hits and all fourteen of the Tarantulas' runs. Dick Albaugh likewise was the object of assault in the second encounter. He allowed "the Jones Boys" ten runs and fourteen runs in hurling a seven-inning stint.

On the winning side of the ledger Jim McMeans fed the Palsanos seven hits in recording the win, while Berdine practically followed in his footsteps in giving up just seven safeties to the Black Knights.

The Tarantulas lowered the boom on the Sons from the first inning on. They put together three runs in the first, four in the second and five in the fourth to enable themselves to drift for the remainder of the game.

The Beverage played it a little differently as they waited until they were behind in the third, 5-1 before striking. When they did in the fourth and fifth it was devastating. Four base hits netted them six runs in the fourth and another four hits accomplished the same total in the fifth.

The first game this evening pits Betts against Mineral Well and in the second contest, Nichols will entertain the Beverage.

The Busy Bee . . .

Annual Game

Sofball fans were treated to a fine exhibition of ball last evening as the Busy Bee Rejects almost dumped Towne and Country, before dropping the game in the final innings, 12-9.

Several stellar performances were turned in by the Rejects, including fine hitting and defense by outfielder Bob Blair. Ed Morgante and Tom Gerardi also had good hitting nights as they collected a couple of hits apiece.

Carl Mazzu ignited the first rally for the Rejects. Later in the game, in one of the great strategic moves of the year, manager Sam Valava replaced the firing Mazzu with Wonderous Willie MacLaren, who responded by pinch hitting a ringing double to left field that sparked the final rally for the Rejects.

Among the spectators were the wives and girlfriends of the Rejects, who, after watching their heroes perform, retired to the local lounge for a recap of the game.

The official scorer for the game was Mrs. Carl "Sandy" Mazzu, who ranks with the most efficient scorers in softball history. The lineup for the Rejects was as follows: Ed Morgante, Carl Mazzu, Gary Campbell, Bob Blair, Tom Gerardi, Dane "Shutac" Steele, Cyed Erickson, Spot Bathurst, Rico Bonavita, Fred Kolpecki, Syd Chido, Willie MacLaren, and Milt Dahler.

The Rejects' battery, Fred Kolpecki, pitcher, and Rico Bonavita, catcher, declared that the Towne and Country scored no earned runs and that the Rejects could claim a 7-0 victory at least. A spokesman for the Rejects said they planned another game real soon "in about two years."

Birds Outfly Indians
CLEVELAND (AP) — Elrod Hendricks rapped a two-run homer and Gene Brabender put down a Cleveland threat in the eighth inning, leading the Baltimore Orioles to a 4-2 victory over the Indians Wednesday night.

Hendricks two-out homer scored Frank Robinson in the sixth inning and gave the Orioles a 3-2 lead.

After a 25-minute rain delay in the ninth the Orioles added an insurance run on Brabender's bases-loaded sacrifice fly.

With one out in the eighth, Russ Snyder and Joe Azcue singled and Brabender replaced starter Tom Phoebus. He struck out pinch-hitter Jim Hall as the runners advanced on a double steal, then got Jose Cardenal to ground out to end the inning.

White Sox Pound Twins
MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Tim Cullen's tie-breaking three-run double keyed a six-run ninth inning rally that carried the Chicago White Sox past the Minnesota Twins 12-8 Wednesday night.

The White Sox, seemingly flattened by a six-run Minnesota fourth inning that gave the Twins an 8-1 lead, fought back with one run in the fifth and four more in the sixth before mounting the winning rally against reliever Ron Perranoski.

With one out, successive singles by Tommy Davis, Juane Josephson, pinch hitter Leon Wagner and Ken Berry delivered two runs, tying it 8-8. After Sandy Alomar grounded out, pinch hitter Call Hopkins drew an intentional walk, filling the bases, and Cullen cleared them with a double to left center.

Woody Held sent Cullen across with a single before Bob Miller, third Minnesota pitcher in the inning, got the final out.

Frank Quittl slammed a three-run double to climax the Twins' big fourth after singles by John Roseboro and Ted Uhlaender and an error by Tom McCraw produced the first three runs.

Singles by Davis, Dick Kenworthy and pinch hitter Walt Williams, a double by Berry and Alomar's sacrifice fly helped the Sox climb back into contention in the sixth.

Yanks Trim Red Sox
BOSTON (AP) — Horace Clarke sliced a two-run double with two out in the ninth inning and the New York Yankees added three more runs on Bill Robinson's single and George Scott's error for a 7-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox Wednesday night.

Tom Tresh started the ninth inning rally against Gary Bell with a one-out single and Jake Gibbs drew a walk. Bell retired Bobby Cox on a pop-up for the

Sports of The Times

By Robert Lipsyte

THE SPIRIT OF THE OLYMPICS

NEW YORK, July 31—On the third stroke of the first race, the Coxswain of the Canadian Heavyweight crew glanced over at the United States Shell, then back to his own rowers, and yelled: "Beat Harvard." Scott N. Steketee, the No. 5 oarsman, remembers how outraged he and his teammates were. "We felt we were the U.S. eight and he should respect us as the U.S. eight. We really started moving on him then," he said today.

Steketee and his Harvard teammates went on to win the Pan-American games championship last summer, and this summer they qualified as the U.S. eight in the coming Olympics. A week ago, four oarsmen—Steketee, Curtis R. Canning, J. Cleve Livingston and David D. Higgins—and the Coxswain, Paul Hoffman, wrote and issued an extraordinary statement that began: "We—as individuals—have been concerned with the place of the black man in American society and his struggle for equal rights. As members of the U.S. Olympic team, each of us has come to a moral commitment to support our black teammates in their efforts to dramatize the injustices and inequities which permeate our society."

The five white athletes were profoundly disturbed and confused by the announcement of the proposed boycott of the Olympics by black athletes, and by the report of the President's so-called riot commission. They had considered writing to Lee Evans, the popular San Jose State runner whom they had met at the Pan-American games, for more information on the extent of black athletic discontent. But the letter never was sent; the oarsmen felt it would be presumptuous unless they were actually on the Olympic team.

The Olympic trials were held in California, and after the Harvard crew won, Livingston and Hoffman visited Harry Edwards, the leader of the black athletes' protest movement. Edwards, recalling that meeting today, said: "It was beautiful to see some white cats willing to admit they've got a problem and looking to take some action to educate their own."

Livingston and Hoffman reported back to their teammates, who are now living at Harvard and practicing at 6:30 a.m. and 4:15 p.m., each day. Some of them decided to issue a statement supporting Edwards' protest, which they felt was one of the few nonviolent avenues of communication left. Their role, they decided, would be to make contact with other white athletes selected for Olympic teams and create a group that would help whites understand the goals of the black protesters, that would "stimulate an open-ended discussion of the issues" between white and black athletes, and "discuss means of voicing our support at the Olympic Games."

Steketee said that he thinks there will be no boycott, but that black athletes will demonstrate at the Mexico City games. The Harvard group has no idea what role it might take in any such demonstration.

"It's certainly regrettable we have to take this stand," said Steketee, a June graduate from Toledo, Ohio. "But everything about the plight of the black man in this country is regrettable. And, in a sense, our stand is an expression of brotherhood with our black teammates and that's my idea of the spirit of the Olympics, at least the original plan of the Olympics."

"We've invested all our efforts in athletics for so long, and we've worked so hard, that I think we've earned the right to use our main areas of interest to express our main concerns."

The statement issued by the oarsmen concludes: "It is not our intention or desire to embarrass our country or to use athletics for ulterior purposes. But we feel strongly that the racial crisis is a total cultural crisis. The position of the black athlete cannot be, and is not in fact, separated from his position as a black man or woman in America."

"America can only acquire greater dignity and greater hope by facing its most grievous problem openly and before the world. Surely the spirit of the Olympic Games cannot thrive on a hypocrisy that fails to acknowledge that even the highest individual achievement does not save a black athlete from the indignities and injustices visited upon him as a man."

"Surely the spirit of the Olympic Games requires us, as white participants, to explore all the means at our disposal to further the cause of brotherhood and the claims to equality of our black colleagues."

Boycotters Plan Chaos As Olympic Strategy

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Harry Edwards, leader of the Negro Olympic protest movement, indicated Wednesday that sprinter Lee Evans' statement that there would be no boycott might be part of a plan to create chaos among the Olympic movement.

Evans said Tuesday in Spokane, Wash., that black athletes had voted to go to the games in Mexico City in October and stage some form of protest there rather than boycott the games entirely.

"If Lee said that, then that's what he said," Edwards said. "They can go ahead and depend on that if they want. But if I was in Payton Jordan's or Hilmer Lodge's place I wouldn't put too much stock in what anybody says."

Jordan is head coach of the Olympic track and field team and Lodge is chairman of the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Committee.

"At this particular point," said Edwards, who recently finished the school year as a sociology instructor at San Jose State College, "our strategy is chaos."

"We want to give the people picking the team a taste of what we go through living in this country. There's only one thing more confusing than a rumor and that's a million rumors. "Don't be surprised if you have many statements coming out tomorrow and the next day and the next day ranging from total boycott to protest."

"The chances are very good that not only Lee Evans, but John Carlos and Tommie Smith will be making statements. There are a lot of people involved in this thing. We can't keep them quiet. We can't say nothing. We're going to say everything."

Evans, Carlos and Smith have been involved in the boycott protest plans with Edwards from the beginning.

Attempts to obtain comment on Evans' and Edwards' statements from the Negro athletes now working out for the final Olympic trials at South Lake Tahoe, Calif., were stymied by a newly imposed rule on interviews.

Reporters were told Wednesday that requests to talk with athletes must be made 24 hours in advance. Si Tyler, Olympic Committee representative from Tulare, Calif., who is manager of the camp, said the athletes had asked that the rule be imposed because questioners were interrupting their training.

IT'S TRUE. I'M SCARED OF GYPSY . . .

These were the words Emile Griffith used in describing his reaction to a Philadelphia boxing writer's comment that Griffith backed out of his July 8 scheduled fight with Gypsy Joe with a fake injury. Griffith and Gypsy Joe will meet in Philadelphia this Tuesday to decide who gets a shot at Middleweight champion Nino Benvenuti of Italy.

Green Bay Favored by Three TD's Over All-Stars Friday

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—The odds are about three touchdowns against Norm Van Brocklin continuing his coaching annoyance of the Green Bay Packers in the 35th All-Star Football Game at Soldier Field Friday night.

Van Brocklin is making his All-Star debut after a six-season reign as boss of the Minnesota Vikings during which the upstart Vikings never were shut out, twice won and dropped two cliffhangers in 12 meetings with the mighty Packers.

This is a good spot for the former Los Angeles Rams and Philadelphia Eagles star quarterback to utilize his pro know-how on an eager 50-man collegiate squad against the Packers, who are seeking a third straight shutout of the All-Stars.

Lagging 23-9-2 in the classic series sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., the All-Stars are rated as much as a 19-point underdog against the National Football League powerhouse.

Cardinals Talent Yet to be Tapped

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—It's what up front that counts with the St. Louis Cardinals, but the National League's 1967 runaway winners are even better this season because of what comes next.

Manager Red Schoendienst has been able to play some of his regulars less and still enjoy it more because he now has catcher Johnny Edwards and infielder Dick Schofield.

Edwards, 30, acquired after two terrible years in Cincinnati, has filled in for Tim McCarver by hitting .269 with 20 runs batted in in only 141 times at bat. He also is second on the club in game-winning hits with eight.

Schofield, no ball of fire his last four years with four different clubs, has hit .256 while spelling Dal Maxvill and Julian Javier.

The pair replaced catcher John Romano, who hit .121 with two RBIs behind McCarver, and Ed Bressoud, who hit .134 with one RBI as the utility infielder.

With almost the same starting line-up as last season's world champions, Edwards and Schofield have supplied that extra from the bench and the Cardinals are speeding even faster toward another pennant.

Person-to-Person
WANT ADS — 723-1400

However, the Packers—unveiling Phil Bengston as coaching successor to retired Vince Lombardi—were the last victims of the All-Stars, losing 20-17 five years ago in the 1963 contest.

Van Brocklin has been honing the All-Star squad the past three weeks at Northwestern University, avoiding any boasts which might irritate the Packers but displaying the independence that marked his now ended Viking coaching regime.

The Dutchman said he will call each play for his quarterback tandem of Gary Beban of UCLA and Greg Landry of Massachusetts.

Van Brocklin set some sort of precedent by selecting only two quarterbacks from the cream of last season's collegiate crop. He said he preferred to concentrate on a pair rather than waste field and scrimmage time on several other quarterbacks who might not have much chance to get into the game.

The All-Stars may be able to move the ball against the Packers behind time throwing Beban and Landry, a bevy of good receivers and a brace of rugged 240-pound backs in Larry Csonka of Syracuse and Lee White of Weber State.

Defensively, the All-Stars are in for an acid test against the passing of Bart Starr and the running of Jim Grabowski, Eljah Pitts and Donny Anderson.

Co-Captain Major Hazelton of Florida A&M heads the collegiate secondary which can make or break the chances for an All-Star upset.

Such All-Star linebackers as Fred Carr of Texas El Paso, a packer draftee; Adrian Young of Southern California; Mike McGill and Wayne Meylan of Nebraska are highly rated.

A crowd of 60,000 is expected at the game which will be televised nationally via ABC beginning at 9:30 p.m. EDT. There will be no radio broadcast.

Griffith Meets Gypsy Tuesday in Phillie

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PLEASANTVILLE, N.J. (AP)—"It's true. I'm scared of Gypsy. After all these years, I've fought all these years, I'm scared of Gypsy."

The sarcasm was heavy as Emile Griffith uttered the words while having his hands taped for a training session here at the Laoma Byrd training camp.

Griffith, former middleweight champion, is preparing for a 12-round fight Aug. 6 in Philadelphia against unbeaten Gypsy Joe Harris. The fight was scheduled for July 8, but was postponed because of a groin injury suffered by Griffith.

After the postponement a Philadelphia boxing writer wrote that Griffith really didn't have an injury, but that the 28-year-old New York fighter was running out on Harris. Griffith's co-manager, Gil Clancy, said Griffith really hit the ceiling when he read it.

The winner of this fight is expected to get a shot at middleweight champion Nino Benvenuti of Italy. Griffith lost the crown to the Italian last March in a 15 round decision at Madison Square Garden.

Asked if it is true he is afraid of the 22-year-old Harris, Griffith said scornfully, "They pay me to show up. That much I do. I have no easy fight on my hands. Harris is a very rough fighter. But he better not think he's in with any push-over."

Although Griffith has been welterweight champion, twice the middleweight king, and has a record of 55-9, with 20 knockouts, he's a slight underdog against Harris in the wise money market. How does he feel about that?

"I like to be underdog," Griffith said. "I've been an underdog before. I understand, I'm fighting in the young man's home town. He's unbeaten. But all I have to do is perform like

I can perform. So, he's never lost. There's a first time for everything."

Griffith's other co-manager, Howard Albert, interrupted to note, "I don't think he (Harris) has ever fought anyone like Emile either. The best he's met is Bobby Cassidy and Cassidy is Emile's sparring partner. We have some plans."

Herman Taylor, 81-year-old promoter of the bout in conjunction with Madison Square Garden, says he has a $50,000 advance in the bank for the Spectrum fight, and expects to do at least $100,000.

American Bar Association Sanford & Grand Valley News Meets in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Attorneys and judges from across America began convening here Wednesday for wide-ranging discussions on laws and the law, and how to combat rising crime and violence in city streets.

The main focus of serious discussions at the 91st annual meeting of the American Bar Association — the world's largest lawyer group — will be on the causes and effects of urban unrest.

Some sessions on juvenile and adult delinquency are expected to develop new ideas in crime prevention and control. There also will be probes into the new civilian protests and demonstrations now sweeping the United States — those for racial justice, against military service, and for changes on college campuses.

The ABA, with a membership of more than 130,000 has lined up leaders in law, government, business and education to lead principal discussions during sessions that end Aug. 9.

It is the fourth time the ABA has met in Philadelphia. In the first, in 1924, membership was around 22,000 and Charles Evans Hughes, then secretary of state and later chief justice of the U.S., was president. This year the new president is William T. Gossett of Detroit, Hughes' son-in-law.

President Johnson is expected to address the opening session of the ABA's House of Delegates next Monday.

Among other scheduled speakers are Chief Justice Earl Warren, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold, Justice Abe Fortas, nominated to succeed Warren as chief justice, and George W. Ball, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Businessmen Plan 3rd Trade Mission

HARRISBURG (AP) — Apparently satisfied with the results of their first two foreign trade missions, state and private business executives plan a third tour next year, to South America.

The expedition has been tentatively set for May 22 through June 7, with stops at Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo, Buenos Aires, Lima and Caracas.

A group of three state officials and 13 private businessmen went on a 25-day Far Eastern tour last April and May to promote expanded foreign markets for Pennsylvania products.

The tab to the state amounted to $11,748.43, according to the expense vouchers filed by the three state representatives: Lt. Gov. Raymond J. Broderick, Deputy Commerce Secretary Edward D. Smith and John T. Acton, foreign trade specialist in Commerce's Bureau of Business Services.

The businessmen paid their own fares.

The mission included stops at Tahiti, Sydney and Melbourne, Australia; Formosa; Osaka and Tokyo, Japan; and Seoul, Korea.

The mission was staged in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Commerce, which has been urging this kind of activity by individual states for a number of years.

The first mission was conducted a year ago when Gov. Shafer headed a contingent through Europe.

Much of Acton's advance preparations involved arranging prospective interviews and scheduling individual meetings in conjunction with U.S. Consular and embassy representatives in the foreign nations, Smith said.

The deputy secretary added that he carried 22 other Pennsylvania business proposals on the mission, excluding the firms represented personally on the trip, and interviewed 110 interested foreign companies.

Smith was director of the Bureau of Business Services when the state first began to explore the possibility of expanding Pennsylvania's export business in 1963 during the Scranton Administration.

Initially, the concentration on the food industry, Smith said. Apparently, the businessmen who accompanied the latest mission found results to their satisfaction.

"We paid for the entire trip with the profits of our first day sales in Australia," one executive was quoted in the Commerce Department publication.

Said another: "We worked out the final details on a representation agreement that should result in $500,000 sales by 1969."

Ten affiliated organizations are meeting here concurrently with the ABA. These include the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, winding up an 11-day meeting Thursday; the Conference of Chief Justices, the National Association of Women Lawyers, the National Conference of Bar Presidents, the American College of Trial Lawyers, National Conference of State Trial Judges and Appellate Judges, Law Student Division, American Judicature Society, National Conference of Court Administrative Officers, and the American Legal Aid and Defender Association.

The House of Delegates, 296 member ABA policy-making body, is expected to act on resolutions dealing with lawyers for the poor, military justice, ethical standards and discipline for attorneys, and group legal services.

Louis Brown and son Robert left Sunday morning for a trip into Canada. Mrs. Erna Obrok, Pat Brown and Mrs. Joanne Davis and 21 Girl Scouts and 4 little ones camped out at Hemlock Lake from Tuesday through Friday. They report a good time even with the terrible rain they had on Wednesday.

Sanford Vacation Bible School began Monday with about 20 youngsters and Mrs. Betty Danielson as leader and Mrs. Erna Obrok, Mrs. Esther Reynolds and Miss Robin Schell.

Jack Davis, Dillon Vroman, Bert Chappel and Charles Albright returned Sunday from their fishing trip to Canada.

The regular Missionary meeting will be Monday night August 5. Mrs. Betty Danielson will be the leader and Mrs. Alice Vroman the hostess.

Douglas Thompson will be the speaker at both churches again Sunday. He presented a very interesting message last Sunday, and we are very happy to have this young man back again.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilo Scott attended the Sanford Reunion held at the Ottawa Park in Westfield, N.Y. Sunday with 40 in attendance. The Scotts report a very nice time.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sonnie Garber were Mr. and Mrs. David Morelli and family of near Warren. They celebrated Sonnie's birthday with a cookout with ice cream and cake being served later.

Mrs. Martha Estain of Erie called on her cousin Mrs. Sonnie Garber Monday afternoon.

Miss Sarah Brown spent the week at Camp Findley, Findley Lake EUB Camp, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marshall had a real exciting time at their home on Saturday when snakes got into their water pump and burned it out, one was still alive but the others were all electrocuted.

Bob said they were rather expensive snakes as he had to buy a new motor.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pasternack and Mr. and Mrs. Roman Leosky were Friday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garber. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Garber called on Mrs. Vista Sherlock of Sparta, R.D.

Friday August 2 will be Missionary Day at Camp Findley. Miss Lela Pierce will be one of the speakers. Sunday, Aug. 4, is Bible Conference Sunday at Findley Lake.

Tuesday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rhinehart were Mr. and Mrs. Wilber

Strickland of Busti, N.Y. Mr. and Mrs. Rhinehart were recent dinner guests of their daughter Mrs. Robert Hagberg and family at Erie.

Friday evening callers of the Rhineharts were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Garber and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Holcomb. Saturday afternoon the Rhineharts called on Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Beers at Lilly Dale, N.Y. Sunday.

They enjoyed a birthday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bush at Jamestown, N.Y. The honor guest was Mr. Rhinehart whose birthday was on Saturday.

Mrs. Lilly Garber was Sunday supper guest of her niece Mrs. Louie Dunham and family, at Warren and also called on Leon Mitchell and Mrs. Robert Sweetland in the afternoon at Youngsville.

One of the most remarkable museums in Italy displays only umbrellas, the National Geographic says. The Umbrella Museum in the village of Gignese recalls the days when virtually the entire town made and repaired umbrellas and parasols.

Recently E.R. Waltman brought home $200 cash and hid it in the pocket of an old topcoat.

A few days later, his wife donated the coat to a charitable organization, a fact that Waltman didn't discover until several days later.

He rushed down to the organization's headquarters, explained his plight, and with the help of workers began rummaging through 22 crates of used clothing. Waltman found his coat, and the cash, in the second crate.

L/B BIGGEST WHITE SALE—NEW FOURTH FLOOR

GRIN AND BEAR IT

BY LIGHTY

"Stop annoying Daddy with confusing questions, Junior! ... He told you whom he's voting for ... now stop asking 'why?'"

Condition Of Lease: Show a light

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — It's a condition of John Sharpin's lease that he keep a light burning in the window. John, a 37-year-old engineer, and his wife of six months have rented Bona Lighthouse, at the entrance to Loch Ness. John, who works in the area, said "It was not easy to find a home, but my wife learned the lighthouse was for rent." When the couple saw the whitewashed building on the shore of the Loch, with the mountains flung up on either side, they fell in love with the place. One term of the lease is that John and Margaret must keep an eye on the light which shines from the lighthouse, marking the entrance to Loch Ness, which forms part of the Caledonian Canal slicing across Scotland from east to west. Some say the beam at times lights up the wash stirred up by the monster reputed to live in the Loch. John has to make sure the light is on. "If it goes out I have to put an oil lamp in its place and report it immediately," he says.

THE HARRIS SURVEY

By LOUIS HARRIS
The Democratic Party finds itself in a deep dilemma as it approaches its August convention. On the one hand, among a cross section of Democrats only, Vice President Humphrey keeps his position as the preferred choice for the nomination over Sen. Eugene McCarthy by 46 to 40 per cent. On the other hand, among the electorate as a whole, McCarthy at this point in time would run a stronger race than Humphrey against the Republican candidate by six to nine percentage points. And if McCarthy were denied the nomination and ran on a fourth-party ticket, the latest Harris Survey finds that he might siphon off enough votes to hand Richard Nixon the election. To be sure, McCarthy continues to narrow Humphrey's lead among Democrats — from 15 points in early May to six points in mid-July. And among independents, McCarthy is ahead of Humphrey 48 to 32 per cent. But, nonetheless, the inescapable fact remains that Humphrey is far more popular than McCarthy with the men who control the party. And contrary to the claims of McCarthy supporters that the general public is outraged by the convention selection procedures for delegates, Democrats across the country answered in the affirmative by a 3 to 2 margin when asked: "DO YOU FEEL THAT THE DELEGATES WHO WILL REPRESENT THIS STATE AT THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY CONVENTION IN AUGUST ARE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE THINKING OF THE VOTERS OF THIS STATE OR NOT?" So the Democratic dilemma is whether the party convention selects the man, Humphrey, who is strongest with the party rank and file and its leadership or the man, McCarthy, who is presently stronger outside the party and could ruin the party's chances in November by bolting to head a fourth-party ticket. Many have predicted that the Humphrey-McCarthy dilemma may cause the Democratic Party to fall apart at the seams after the national convention. But a careful observation of current campaign activity indicates that McCarthy has been trying to prove that he is a good and loyal Democrat. By the same token, Hubert Humphrey shows real signs of trying to woo support outside the ranks of the professionals and head off the threat of a fourth-party bolt. Here would be the results today of a four-way presidential contest in which Eugene McCarthy and George Wallace headed up their own nationwide, independent parties:

FOUR-WAY PRESIDENTIAL TEST
TOTAL VOTERS
	PER CENT
Nixon	32
Humphrey	27
McCarthy	21
Wallace	15
Not sure	5

In the same way that Wallace has been a "spoiler" among possible Nixon votes in the South, McCarthy would take votes away from Humphrey in Northern states. McCarthy leads all three of his opponents in the West, dominated by California's big electoral bloc. Wallace runs first in the South and could conceivably take the lion's share of the electoral vote there in a four-way race. Nixon's five-point edge nationwide, however, might be enough to give him a majority of the electoral college vote or to carry in a substantial number of Republican congressmen eligible to vote if the election were thrown into the House of Representatives. In a four-way contest, McCarthy would win more of the independent and under-35 vote than any of his other opponents. However, he would finish fourth and last in the South, among Republicans, in the small towns and rural areas, among voters 50 years of age and over, and among those with less than a high school education. He would draw nearly half his 21 per cent from Humphrey, 3 per cent from Nixon, 2 per cent from Wallace, with the rest coming from currently undecided voters. In the same poll in which McCarthy demonstrated that he could split the Democratic vote to give the election to Nixon, a cross section of Democrats was also asked its presidential preference:

DEMOCRATIC RANK AND FILE CHOICE
	HUMPHREY	McCARTHY	NOT SURE
	PER CENT	PER CENT	PER CENT
Mid-July	46	40	14
Mid-June	48	40	12
Late May	49	37	14
Early May	47	32	21
April	39	35	26

There is no doubt that the threat of a fourth-party ticket might be something of a nightmare to Democratic Party leaders, although McCarthy has said he would not run personally on such a ticket. But it should be pointed out that it is unlikely that such a party could get on the ballot in at least a third of the states, and might not end up with even one-half. In this case, the results might still prove disastrous to the Democratic Party with McCarthy on the fourth-party ticket. Without McCarthy, it is an entirely different ball game. Even a McCarthy threat to bolt could be a two-way street. For the more the senator's partisan supporters say they will set up another party in the event he is not nominated, the more resentment such tactics are likely to build up in the minds of party leaders and delegates. And as that resentment were to mount, the senator's chances of achieving nomination from the Democratic Party would diminish.

ALL MEMBERS OF THE CVCC WOMEN'S GOLF ASSOC. are reminded that the third "Mini-Breakfast" of the season will be held on Tuesday, August 6th, at the Conewango Valley Country Club at 8:15 a. m. For reservations call the club no later than this Saturday, August 3rd. At the breakfast, announcements for August will be made.

A GARAGE SALE for August 15th, 16th and 17th, is scheduled by Women of the Moose . . . It will take place at the Wenzel residence on Mill street, off Pleasant Drive. Plans were made for the event at the recent business meeting of the WOTM at which Senior Regent Ida Wenzel presided. It was also announced that the Loyal Order of Moose and its Auxiliary will hold a Family Picnic at Midway Park on August 25th. Each woman is to bring a turkey. At the meeting the name of Pauline Elmhurst, who was not present, was drawn.

ST. CLARA'S-ST. ANTHONY'S SUMMER FESTIVAL notes from the desk of chairman Joe Montore include the following: Saturday, August 31st a "Holupki" dinner will be served by the women of the parish; and, on Sunday, September 1st, a "Chicken Bar-B-Q" will be prepared and served by Chef George Rice and his crew . . . No doubt, there will be take home service, a convenience for mine hostess if she happens to have a house full of visitors for the holiday weekend. Mr. Montore also goes on to say that all handicraft items should be completed on or before August 16th . . . Dolly Straneva is chairman of this part of the festival. Tickets are now on sale for both dinners: A straight price of $1.50 for the Holupki dinner, and, $1.75 for the Chicken Bar-B-Q.

SEVERAL PEOPLE HAVE COMMENTED on the similarity in attire of three governors, Raymond P. Shafer, Ronald Reagan, and Nelson A. Rockefeller, at the Cincinnati governors' conference. All wore white dinner jackets with dark-bordered lapels. According to a Cleveland Plain Dealer story, the governors and their wives were gifted with made-in-Ohio products, including the white dinner jackets.

AN OPEN HOUSE will be observed on Sunday, August 4th, at the home of Mrs. Esther Porter on Thompson Hill. The affair will honor Mrs. Eunice Porter's 88th birthday which will fall on the following Wednesday, August 7th. Friends and relatives are invited to call between the hours of 1 and 5 p. m. Sunday.

Miniatures: The annual Arnold Reunion will be held at Meade Park in Corry on Sunday, August 11th . . . Instead of this Sunday as originally planned.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have two friends -- both widows. I like these women very much -- until they get on the subject of their families. I am sick to death listening to them brag about their sons -- how smart and successful they are, what great fathers they are to their children. Then they start in on their daughters-in-law. They are dumbbells -- no family background, lazy, incompetent, can't do anything right. From there they go on to rave about their grandchildren. They are the most thoughtful, considerate, most popular kids in town. Everyone remarks on their beautiful manners.

Yesterday I stood it as long as I could. Finally I said, "Please tell me how come the children turned out so well when they had such lazy, dumb mothers?" They lit into me and insisted that the children had been trained by their fathers.

I have six wonderful grandchildren, Ann, and although my son is a fine person, I know his wife deserves 85 per cent of the credit. Please print my letter and comment. -- FAIR IS FAIR

DEAR FAIR: When you see thoughtful, considerate, well-mannered children, it's a pretty safe assumption that both parents worked together to bring up those kids properly. The influence of the mother is usually the greatest, since she is the one who spends most of her time directing and disciplining the children in their formative years. I say your thinking is more nearly correct than your friends.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I respond to "Old Starchy" -- the R.N. who complained about the way patients treat people who staff hospitals? She said, "Illness does not give a patient the right to be abusive or downright nasty to those whose job it is to take care of them."

Fortunately, Old Starchy's viewpoint that "genuinely nice people remain nice in spite of pain and misery" is not shared by the majority of hospital people. Hospital administrative and medical staffs have long recognized that illness can alter one's

June Lord - Paul Natale Wed In St. Luke's, Youngsville

June Sharon Lord became the bride of Paul Richard Natale in a Nuptial Mass celebrated at St. Luke's Church, Youngsville, by the Rev. Father Charles Hurley, pastor on Saturday, July 20, at 2 p.m. Father Hurley read the double ring wedding rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lord of RD 1, Sugar Grove, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Natale of 427 College street, Youngsville.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. John Papalia, organist, and vocalist Jack Haight. Baskets of white gladioli and yellow carnations adorned the candle-lit altar; carnations also marked the family pews.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride appeared in a long fitted sheath with empire bodice over which was worn a daisy Chantillace coat, complemented with a large bow and streamers, which swept gracefully into a chapel length train. A matching lace headpiece secured her bouffant veil and she carried a bouquet of white daisies with ivy leaves centered with a white rose corsage.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Dennis Strandburg of Warren, was in orange ice chiffon and Venetian lace. Her flowers were orange ice colored daisies. Dressed similarly, but in the colors of lemon and aqua respectively were the bridesmaids, Miss Diane Brunecz and Miss Romona Southwell of Sugar Grove. Their daisy bouquets matched their gowns.

The best man was Jack Plett, brother-in-law of the groom, of Jamestown. Ushers were Dennis Strandburg of Warren, and Jack Natale, cousin of the groom, of Youngsville.

The mother of the bride wore a costume of beige and blue bonded knit with powder blue accessories and blue carnations. The mother of the groom chose a gray print crepe with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Frank Burt and Mrs. John Lord were remembered with carnation corsages, also.

A reception was held at the Youngsville Ski Lodge with approximately one hundred and fifty in attendance. The three tier white wedding cake with pink trim was topped with two love doves. Mistress of ceremonies was the sister of the bride, Mrs. Allan Stino. Aides were Mrs. Marsha Collins, Miss Donna Zaprowski, Miss Janet Muczynski, Mrs. Arvilla Nordstrom and Miss Irene Lord, sister of the bride, managed the guest book.

The newlyweds flew to Tampa, Florida for a honeymoon. Mrs. Natale wore a royal blue knit dress with white accessories and a rose corsage. At present, Mr. and Mrs. Natale are residing at 509 W. Fifth avenue, Warren.

The bride, a graduate of Eisenhower High School, is employed at Struthers-Wells. The groom, a graduate of Allied Institute of Technology of Chicago, served four years in the U.S. Marine Corps, and is presently employed at Sylvania.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Allan Stino, Miss Nancy Johnson, and the Misses Diane Brunecz, Mona Southwell, Nancy Mangini and Fae Lindell. A luncheon was given by co-workers at Struthers-Wells. The rehearsal dinner was given at the Rustic Restaurant.

Out of town guests attended from Russell, Warren, Tidoute, Sugar Grove, New Castle, Penna.; Jamestown, Ashville, Blockville, Niobe and Delhi, N. Y.

personality remarkably. May I offer a paragraph from our Personnel Handbook?

"In working with the sick and injured, remember that you are dealing with persons in exceptional circumstances. Such a person is often upset by actions and events which he would not notice under normal circumstances. You will discover that many patients have fears and resentments which may manifest themselves in irritability, uncooperativeness and apprehensiveness. Remember what is routine for you may be a grave emergency in the minds of a patient or his family. Courtesy, kindness and, above all, patient understanding are the best weapons you have for overcoming these problems."

Grange News

The regular meeting of Warren Grange No. 1025 originally scheduled for Monday, August 5, was held on Monday, July 29, at which time balloting on candidates was held. The candidates will receive the first and second degree today at the New Lond Grange.

The third and fourth degrees will be conferred on Thursday, August 8, at Watson Grange.

Plans were made for the annual twelve picnic for Warren Grange members in Crescent Park on Monday, August 5, at 6 p.m., promptly. Those attending are to bring their own table service and beverage. In case of rain the picnic will be held in the Warren Grange Hall.

Members were also informed that the nomination of officers will take place at the next Warren Grange meeting; and, that the Warren-Forest County Pomona Grange will be held in the Warren Grange Hall on Saturday, August 10, beginning at 10 a.m. On the agenda for the latter meeting is the nomination and election of Pomona officers. All grange members are urged to attend.

All the Granges are asked to notify Mr. and Mrs. Nels Nelson by tomorrow, August 2, if they plan to enter a booth at the Warren County Fair on August 13-14-15-16-17.

Also Grangers are asked to contact Mrs. Mable Sechrist of Ackley Grange as to the day and time they can help on the Pomona Grange project of serving dinners at the Fair.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
What is all this stuff about writing on tape to mark plastic freezer cartons?
Am I the only one who rummaged around in the kitchen drawer and found a stub of black crayon from the days of small children?
You can write as much as you please. It all comes off in the warm sudsy water you use for washing freezer containers after you have used them.
G. J.

"Pon my soul, it works!"
Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
I found a very easy way to make a toddler's birthday party run more smoothly.
I asked the mothers of my son's guests to bring their high chairs and we lined them around the kitchen table.
The little ones can eat, babble and play with their toys without the risk of falling off regular chairs or spreading cake throughout the house!
Robertta Wladis

DEAR HELOISE:
I have three small children, and it seemed that every time I turned around one of them has fallen down the stairs.
I had my husband add a lower banister that the children can reach. It has prevented many falls and cuts.
Candice Freck

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
DEAR HELOISE:
The other day I saw this sign in a cafe:
"Coffee 20 cents a cup.
Warm-up 20 cents.
Put a head on it 20 cents.
Short one 20 cents.
Half-a-cup 20 cents."
Jake

DEAR HELOISE:
Let me pass on a hint I picked up on a canoe trip.
Everyone was worried about dropping things out of the canoe if we turned over. Except for one girl who put her lipstick, identification card, keys, etc., in a large plastic travel jar.
She said she does the same thing any time she's near water. It keeps 'em dry from splashes and if it goes in the water, it doesn't get soaked like a purse cause it FLOATS!
Beth Resler

DEAR HELOISE:
I alternate my flat silverware, changing what we use about once a month. It wears more evenly.

OTTAWA, ILLINOIS, HIGH SCHOOL BAND

Illinois High School Band Presenting Free Concert Tuesday

A free concert will be presented on Tuesday, August 6, at Beatty Junior High School at 7:45 p.m., by seventy-eight high school bandmen from Ottawa, Illinois. Their appearance here, sponsored by the local Kiwanis, is a part of their tour of the Northeast which will begin on August 5, and end on August 15. The Ottawa band comes to Warren with a fine reputation for good showmanship and musicianship.

Housing is needed for the 78 youngsters and four adults of the band. Volunteer hosts are asked to call Heinz Kuhs, after 5 p.m., at 726-0339, or William Kennedy at 726-1438, anytime. Hosts will be asked to serve their guests dinner on Tuesday evening and breakfast on Wednesday morning.

The Ottawa High School Band has received 1st division ratings in Class A & AA Illinois High School Association music contests for the past fifteen years.

Among the highlights of the band's varied activities are concert presentations in twenty-six states and Canada during six extensive summer tours, a concert for the Illinois Music Educators Association, sharing a football halftime show with Northwestern University in Dyck Stadium, appearance as the featured band at the Chicago-Land Music Festival, a concert for the Kiwanis International Convention, concerts for state Rotary conventions, a 1964 performance at the National Mid-West Band Clinic, and a concert for the Dorian Band Festival at Luther College. The band has won first division ratings in state fair competition each of the thirteen years they have entered. In 1961 and 1965 they were awarded the state fair band contest governor's trophies, symbolic of the most outstanding band in the contests. The Ottawa group has made tours of the West, East, South, and northward into Canada in the years 1958, 1959, 1960, 1962, 1964, and 1966. The 1968 summer tour will take the band northeast through parts of nine states and Canada with New Hampshire being the most distant point.

In concert work, the band strives to maintain the high standards of fine interpretation and musicianship typical of midwestern American bands where great high school and college concert bands have developed during the past fifty years.

Ray Makeever, director of the group, graduated from Western Kentucky University and completed his master's work at Northwestern University. He has been director of instrumental music in the Ottawa, Illinois, High School for the past eighteen years. He also directs the Trinity Lutheran Church senior choir in Ottawa and is a board member and playing member of the Illinois Valley Orchestra. He is a member of the Music Educators National Conference and the Illinois Music Educators Association, on whose executive board he recently completed a four year term. In 1965, he was the sole recipient of the MAC award which is presented annually to outstanding high school band directors of the United States. In addition to his regular teaching duties at Ottawa High School, Makeever serves as a clinician, adjudicator, and festival conductor in the Midwest.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 NT Pass 2 ♣ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 4 ♥ Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: Three of ♣

When his partner opened the bidding with one no trump, North had sufficient—nine high card points—to offer a direct raise in no trump. Holding a five card heart suit, he desired to investigate for the best contract, and he accordingly used the two club convention which requests the no trumper to show a major suit. Observe that, if North bids two hearts, directly, it would designate a hand containing less than eight points. When South rebid two hearts, North proceeded directly to game in that suit. West opened the three of clubs, declarer played a small card from dummy and East won the trick with the king. The latter decided to switch the attack and he shifted to the six of diamonds.

South played the king of diamonds and then cashed the king and queen of hearts—drawing the adverse trump. A small spade was led, West followed with the four and the nine was played from dummy which forced out East's king. The queen of diamonds was returned driving out South's last stopper. When West got in with the ace of spades, he cashed the jack of diamonds for the setting trick.

East's timing was perfect; however, declarer could have averted the fatal diamond shift by playing the ace of clubs at trick one in order to begin development of the spades. After drawing trump, a spade is led toward dummy. When the nine drives out the king, only one more lead is required to establish South's queen for a diamond discard from dummy. The defense does not have time to establish their diamond trick, and South's losses are restricted to two spades and the king of clubs.

The club finesse had little to gain for declarer must eventually lose one trick in that suit even if West has led away from the king. South should, therefore, concentrate his efforts on establishing a discard before the opposition has time to get at their diamond trick.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. FOR THURSDAY, AUGUST 1, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—You have the equipment and training to set a praiseworthy mark now. Planetary aspects are auspicious. Express your thoughts in a clear, lucid manner for best reception.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—No day for non-thinkers. The unproductive will fall by the wayside. Yours is a vibrant Sign, with intense expressive tendencies. Make the most of YOUR skills and talents.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Leave no wide gaps in either plans or schedule. Opportunities are all around you. Make certain that you are in the receiving line early. Steady effort will bring fine rewards.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—The desire for escape from reality is fairly common but that is the "easy way out" and can never prove profitable. Bear this in mind now, when there is a tendency to "drift." Take the right road, as your good judgment and foresight dictates.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—"Prestige," "status," "success" are all too familiar as mere words. The real meanings of these symbols will not be handed to you: You must earn them. You CAN, if acting in conformity with the best of Leo's traits.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Do not fear the future. This could defeat your purposes. Ignorance magnifies dilemma, so be prepared to offset it with a calculated program based on knowledge, and know-how.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Don't run with the conformists now. A little daring could pay off. If you desire that extra rating, and pursue it diligently, advancement will be yours sooner.

RAGWEED -- NATURE'S AIR POLLUTANT

It has been suggested that hay fever victims unite into a national organization. As a minority group of 10 million sniffers, they may be able to convince federal, state and local authorities to eliminate ragweed, the chief, but not the only, source of the problem. After all, we spend millions on air pollution, yet the lowly ragweed affects more persons than does smog.

In some parts of the country, control measures help. A community project is organized and the weeds are pulled up just prior to pollination. This is successful, provided that nearby villages follow suit. The plan is worthless in most of the Midwest because getting rid of the weeds from vacant lots and along streets and highways represents only a drop in the bucket.

Most of the plants grow in cultivated crops and on abandoned farms. It is hardy and thrives in nearly any type of soil. Ragweed pollen is the real troublemaker. When released, it is wafted about by the wind and has been detected thousands of feet in the air and may be carried hundreds of miles from its source.

Chicagoans may be suffering from pollen that was blown in from Iowa. Unless the farmer has hay fever, he couldn't care less about the weeds in his cornfield. The pollen output is unbelievable. One square mile of ragweed can free up to 16 tons of the irritant in a single season. Compared to nature, man is a piker when it comes to polluting the atmosphere.

AL 'THE KING' HIRT

Famed Trumpeter Al Hirt At Chautauqua on Friday

Chautauqua, New York — Al Hirt, the "King," considered by many the most famous trumpet player of the entertainment world, comes to the Chautauqua amphitheater with Pee Wee and the Young Set on Friday, August 2, at 8:30 p. m.

Al Hirt's is the typical American success story of home-town boy who makes sudden rise to fame and fortune by obstinately clinging to "his thing" and pursuing it on his own grounds. A native of New Orleans, he studied trumpet in school, initially classical trumpet. For a time he was a scholarship student of music at the Conservatory of Cincinnati.

In New Orleans, Hirt was a trumpeter among many trumpeters, the supply far exceeding the demand. Dixieland was the going thing in New Orleans and though Dixieland influences were strong in his style, he was not a purist. The name Al Hirt began to grow in New Orleans. Periodically he would be asked to play at summer concerts of the New Orleans Philharmonic, not only popular songs of the day but classics as well. The crowds grew at Pier 600.

In 1959 Al Hirt was coaxed out of his New Orleans environment long enough to play an engagement at the Dunes in Las Vegas. Then a spot on the Dinah Shore television show led to a recording contract with RCA Victor. From then on, Hirt's career snowballed. Less than five years later he had arrived at the million-a-year income bracket. His television appearances include the Perry Como Show, seven returns to the Dinah Shore show and ten visits with Ed Sullivan. He has made sixteen albums with RCA Victor and won four Gold Record Awards for million dollar sales. His title, "the King," has been attested by countless awards — a Grammy included.

Among the numbers scheduled for the Al Hirt concert are his Gold Record winners, "Java," "Cotton Candy," and "Sugar Lips," "Saints" represents Dixieland and "Begin the Beguine," "Shadow of Your Smile," and "Autumn Leaves" are popular standards. Also to be offered are numbers such as "Bess, You Is My Woman," "Girl Watchers," and "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue."

Admission to Al Hirt's concert in the Chautauqua Amphitheater on August 2 is by ticket purchased at the gate on the night of the performance.

Thursday's TV Highlights

PERRY MASON is featured on Ch. 4 at 5 p.m. A beautiful but designing woman is active in the fight for control of supposedly oil-rich land intended for a housing subdivision when murder occurs with explosive violence in "The Case of the Nervous Accomplice".

MOVIE 4 TONIGHT on Ch. 4 at 7 p.m. offers "Tripoli" starring John Payne and Maureen O'Hara. The war between the United States and Tripoli pirates in 1805 sets the scene for violence as the Marines fight to raise the American flag on Tripoli.

MOVIE SPECIAL on Ch. 11 at 8 p.m. is "Lilies of the Field" with Sidney Poitier and Lula Skala. A young Negro, ex-GI helps five refugee nuns build a chapel in barren wasteland and also teaches them English.

THURSDAY NIGHT MOVIE on Chs. 4, 10, and 35 at 9 p.m. presents "Joan of Arc", starring Ingrid Bergman and Jose Ferrer. This is a drama about the legendary maid of Orleans, destined by fate to lead an army to victory.

GOLDDIGGERS on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 at 10 p.m. with Frank Sinatra Jr. and Gail Martin as hosts presents special guest Paul Lynde. In the finale the cast pays tribute to Maurice Chevalier by performing songs associated with him.

CONVERSATION WITH ALLEN GINSBERG is presented on Ch. 7 at 10:30 p.m. Allen Ginsberg, the bearded poet-philosopher of the Beat Generation speaks out on a wide variety of subjects. He will tell what he believes in and that which he strongly disagrees with.

Pennsylvania Happenings

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Only one Pennsylvanian, James Buchanan, ever made it to the White House as president.

And only one native Keystone Stater was elected vice president, George Dallas of Philadelphia, who served under James K. Polk from 1845-49 while Buchanan was secretary of state.

Both were Democrats. No Republican from Pennsylvania ever really got close to the nation's two top posts, although in this century the most serious bid for the party's nomination was made in 1964 by former Gov. William W. Scranton.

It's unlikely that a Pennsylvanian will make it when the two major parties nominate this month, unless lightning strikes Gov. Raymond Shafer.

The GOP, of course, does claim a Pennsylvanian, by residence. Dwight D. Eisenhower, (1953-1961) lives in historic Gettysburg, but he was born in Texas.

Incidentally, of the 36 presidents, Virginia claims seven, Ohio six, New York five.

The fame of Buchanan, born in a log cabin near Mercersburg but who made his fortune in Lancaster, is fleeting—but significant. Dallas winds up with a line, nothing more, in most encyclopedias.

Slavery was the nation's chief issue when Buchanan, a 6-foot-1 bachelor lawyer, hung on for 17 ballots to win the Democratic nomination—a spot he had cherished unsuccessfully in 1844 and 1852.

He was never able to cool the slavery fight, though, and just before his one term ended—he hadn't sought re-election—six southern states seceded to form the Confederacy.

Buchanan—who had served in the U.S. House and Senate and in many diplomatic posts, including assignments in Russia and England—refused to use the Army to preserve the Union, leaving the decision for Civil War to his successor, Abraham Lincoln.

His home in Lancaster is now a state shrine.

Incidentally, Buchanan may have been one of those early college protesters against rules and regulations. He was expelled from Dickinson College at Carlisle—but later returned to graduate with high honors.

FAST SERVICE: Harold Van Vleet of Easton went to police headquarters recently to report the theft of his auto. While he gave the car's description, police radio sounded off about a vehicle slamming into a pole. Yep—it was Van Vleet's, recovered in pieces.

The complaining housewife telephoned an official of East Hempfield Township in Lancaster County and told how lightning twice struck her home during storms.

"What are you going to do about it?" she asked. The supervisor figured the best course was to listen, say nothing. It's been suggested he could have said, "Pray."

Production of 'Glass Menagerie' Touching

By WALT ERBLAND
Plowright Playhouse returned to straight dramatic fare last week with a genuinely touching production of Tennessee Williams' "Glass Menagerie".

Joe Nicolini in his first appearance as director for summer theatre creates an atmosphere of sad reminiscence, restrained and delicate, which wafts the theatre like the fragrance of old sachet.

Ellen Abrams as the shy and withdrawn daughter Laura is as fragile as the character's beloved glass miniatures and shellac phonograph records.

Amanda, the mother who tries to rebuild her own shattered dreams in her children, is portrayed by Lois Byham. Miss Byham flits about the stage balancing beautifully Amanda's generally insensitive and foolishly romantic outlook with momentary insights into the hopelessness of the family condition.

Richard Hines who took over weekend performances from Jeff Knapp on short notice does a credible job with the part of the son, Tom. His monologues are a bit strained, but in scenes with the rest of the family Hines defines more than adequately the difficult oscillations of a young man struggling between love of his family and hatred of his home.

As the gentleman caller, Nicolini is a boisterous intruder from another world. He over accentuates the difference and at points threatens to overpower the rest of the cast.

Two window frames intended to create the illusion of the audience's physically peering into the family's home hinder rather than help the production by masking the action of the play from a number of angles in the theatre.

"Glass Menagerie" marks the most venturesome use of lighting by the theatre to date. The employment of dim and restricted illumination is effective in setting and holding the mood of the play. Credit goes to Denny Lane and Isabelle Mollinaro.

BIG MONEY MAKER
CHICAGO (AP)—Just how powerful is the sales tax as a revenue producer?

California last year collected $1.06 billion from this source—more than any other state. Four other heavily populated states—Illinois, Michigan, New York and Pennsylvania—each drew more than one-half billion dollars.

Collections surpassing $100 million were recorded in each of no less than 23 other states, reports Commerce Clearing House, a tax law authority.
